

DEPARTMENT OF THE AIR FORCE
WARRANT OFFICER TRAINING SCHOOL
MAXWELL AIR FORCE BASE, AL

"The reintroduction of the warrant officer career path reflects the Air Force's commitment to expanding and retaining technical excellence, essential for maintaining a strategic advantage in an era defined by Great Power Competition." – Gen David Allvin, Air Force Chief of Staff

Warrant Officer Candidate,

Congratulations on your selection to attend the Warrant Officer Training School (WOTS)! This achievement marks a pivotal step in your career, bringing you closer to earning the distinction of becoming a warrant officer in the United States Air Force. WOTS is a premier training institution that will test your physical and mental limits while further developing your professional skills and expertise. Your selection reflects the skills, knowledge, and capability you've already demonstrated—qualities essential to your continued success. The challenges of yesterday will become the lessons of tomorrow.

Over the next eight weeks, we are confident this course will enhance your readiness and resilience to meet future demands. With the support of a highly skilled team of instructors and staff, you'll gain tools and strategies to effectively analyze and resolve complex problems.

You are expected to rise to the challenges ahead. The course is rigorous and fast-paced, requiring your full commitment. Upon successful completion, you will have achieved the program's three core learning outcomes: Professional Warfighter, Technical Integrator, and Credible Advisor.

It is important you come prepared and ready to perform. To ensure you have the most up to date information, please visit <https://www.afaccessionscenter.af.mil/Holm-Center/Warrant-Officer-Program/WOTS/>. For any issues or questions not addressed by the reporting documents, please reach out to our candidate services at holmcenter.wots.candidateservices@us.af.mil.

TANNER A. ALLSHOUSE, Maj, USAF
Commandant

KAYLEIGH M. MCAVINEY, SMSgt, USAF
Senior Enlisted Leader

"MISSION READY!"